EXPERIENCE

Jodie-Jane has been instructed in a wide variety of offences, including the following areas:

- Violent offences: robbery, actual bodily harm and assaults both in and out of a domestic context;
- Dishonesty offences: theft (including breach of trust), burglary (both dwelling and non dwelling), TWOC, fraud by false representation, and benefit fraud;
- Public order offences: violent disorder, affray, and general public order cases;
- Drug offences; possession, supply and cultivation;
- Road traffic offences; drink driving, failing to provide specimens and speeding matters.

She has also assisted in the preparation of cases for the Court of Appeal including the successful appeal of R v Fair.

Jodie-Jane also has experience with civil orders which are routinely made in the criminal courts either as stand alone applications or ancillary orders made on conviction; these include restraining orders, ASBOs, and orders relating to the restraint and forfeiture of cash seized under POCA.
